ABOUT

Justin Paul is an internationally acclaimed DJ, electronic music producer, label founder, and educator based in Los Angeles. Known for his eclectic musical styles and ability to connect with audiences emotionally, Justin performs at elite concerts, festivals, luxury hotels, pool parties, and special events worldwide, totaling over 1500 DJ performances. His impact extends beyond music, as he serves as a film/TV director, university educator, and founder of multiple record labels, providing platforms for emerging artists.

Recently, Justin Paul co-wrote the song "Army" by Wallis, which has over 2.5 million streams and views as of March 2024. His hit remake of 'How Long' reached number one on the Beatport Nudisco chart, and the live music project (Justin Paul Presents The Model) act inspired by classic 80s dance music released the singles "Success," "Wrong Number," and "I Won't Be Hanging Out," has received radio airplay on KCRW Los Angeles. He also co-directed the short film/music videos "Father's Day" and "Together," which have won the Cannes Shorts and Eastern Europe Film Festival and were nominated by the Los Angeles Film Awards, showcasing his success and versatility in the film industry.

Justin Paul shares the stage with legendary DJs and electronic acts—AIR, Bassnectar, Beats Antique, Deadmau5, DJ Colette, Disco Biscuits, Josh Wink, King Britt, LCD Soundsystem, Marques Wyatt, Nick Warren, Orbital, Prodigy, Rusko, Squarepusher, Thievery Corporation, Trentemøller, Zero 7, and many more. As the founder of Playloop Records, Justin Paul oversaw over 50 releases, ten of which broke into the Beatport Top 10 charts, and signed over a dozen artists to the roster. Carl Cox's Global Sessions BBC Radio One show, KCRW & KXLU Los Angeles, WKDU Philadelphia, SiriusXM, and many more have featured his original music and DJ sets.

Justin Paul and his Underground Sol & Playloop label artists are on (KCRW, Stereogum & Pop Justice), and print publications (LA Weekly, Philadelphia City Paper, The Metro NYC & Philly, Spin, and more). Recent DJ performance highlights include residencies and shows at PEX Costa Rica & Los Angeles, Hangout Festival, PEX Summer Festival Don't't Fake The Funk, Filifera Hollywood, Sunset Hollywood Villa, W Hotel Maldives, and exclusive events in Los Angeles.

Passionate about empowering artists and inspiring the next generation, Justin Paul exemplifies music's transformative power and continues pushing boundaries in music, art, film, and education, teaching entertainment business, film, television, and music industry courses at California State University, Channel Islands & Dominguez Hills, and UCLA.
